ABOUT

Fashion Design graduate from IED Milan with a strong focus on product development and collection design.

I combine creative research with a structured, production-oriented approach, developing garments from concept to technical execution.

- Menswear and Womenswear Design
- Product Development & Collection Building
- CLO3D and Technical Design
- Textile Research and Material Exploration

Interested in working in environments where design and product development are closely connected.

MEN'S COLLECTION

SPORE DI MEMORIA

A menswear collection exploring memory, decay, and regeneration. Inspired by the Belle Époque, the project reinterprets traditional elegance, through organic transformations on garment surfaces. Micro-nature elements subtly evolve within the garments, creating a dialogue between past and present. Relaxed silhouettes, textured fabrics, and muted tones define a contemporary vision of evolving tailoring.

Focus on:

- Tailoring and contemporary proportions
- Fabric research and surface development
- Material aging and organic textures

THESIS COLLECTION

OMBRE VISIBILI

Inspired by the reality of Brazilian favelas, Ombre Visibili explores themes of visibility and marginalization.

The collection focuses on the human body as fragile yet resilient, expressed through soft volumes, layered constructions, and worn textures.

A balance between dignity and hardship transforms everyday environments into a quiet, emotional narrative.

Focus on:

- Volume and proportion
- Layering and construction
- Materiality and surface
